Fire burns 100 acres near mission; homes threatened

County fire officials today continued to investigate the cause of a fire that swept across the mesa south of Mission Hills Saturday, blackening 100 acres of brush land and for a time threatening five ranger homes.

An estimated 18 residents were ordered to evacuate the homes in midafternoon as high winds swept the flames to within 75 yards of the backyards. The homes house employees of La Purisima Mission.

Protestant celebration continues despite blasts

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Nearly 50,000 Protestant men and boys in bowler hats and white kid gloves marched past glass fragments left by seven early-morning bomb blasts today to celebrate Orange Day.

Under bright skies and a blazing summer sun, members of the Protestant Orange Order marched for six miles through the center of Belfast.

There were hundreds of thousands of onlookers. One group of Catholics hoisted five Irish Republican flags on top of an apartment house near the parade route.

British forces —11,000 of them —were on guard throughout Northern Ireland to try to stave off trouble between the two religious groups at parades and celebrations underway in 19 cities. More than 100,000 Protestants were taking part in the various celebrations.

Seven blasts rocked Belfast before dawn today, destroying two drapery shops, knocking out the doors and

The fire broke out shortly after noon at a time when most county fire personnel from the Vandenberg Village County Station were fighting a similar blaze on the Sudden Ranch, south of Lompoc.

The firemen raced to the Mission Hills scene ahead of units from Buellton and other county stations. An estimated 16-18 firefighters under the command of Batt. Chief Ben Dahlen from Santa Ynez, were aided by about 25 unidentified civilians.

windows of a Chinese restaurant and demolishing a row of telephone booths.

In the Bryson Street area where both Protestants and Roman Catholics live, a bomb ripped through a private home, injuring a young girl. Another bomb destroyed an electricity transformer at Finaghey Field, where thousands of Orangemen were gathering later in the day for the main parade celebrating King William's victory over the Roman Catholic King James II in 1690 at the Battle of the Boyne.

Belfast's Protestant neighborhoods were alight with bonfires and crowds were dancing and shouting anti-Catholic slogans when the explosions went off. The crowds scattered in many places and there were some shouts of "It's the IRA" —the outlawed Irish Republican Army —but they later regrouped and the celebrations continued.

fighting and 700 were captured. But apart from naming four generals and two colonels, the spokesman did not say how many of those prisoners were officers.

Another 28 persons were killed, most of them guests at a reception marking Hassan's 42nd birthday at the Skirat Palace 12 miles south of Rabat. Among those killed was the Belgian ambassador to Morocco, Marcel Dupret, Moroccan Supreme Court President Ahmend Bahini and several Moroccan generals.

The king escaped unharmed, although he was held for two hours by the rebels. There was a brief outburst of fresh fighting Sunday night, but it was quelled.

Three borate bombers dropped 3,700 gallons of fire suppressing chemicals at the height of the blaze. The drops came as the flames swept northeasterly directly toward the homes. It was the first time such places were used to fight fires in the Lompoc area.

Assistant County Fire Chief Fletcher Commons said he was on the scene when the borate bombers flew over. He said the drops came just in time. "There were a couple of real hot spots, one in a canyon and the other heading in the direction of the homes," he said.

Ranger Jack Mason shook his head sadly today as he surveyed damage to the Mission lands. "It's a sad, darn thing," he said, "but it'll recover."

VAFB airman killed in accident

Airman Weylin Keith Howell, 19, of Vandenberg Air Force Base, was killed and a man from Buellton injured in a head-on, multiple car crash early today on Highway 166, 11½ miles east of Highway 101.

Howell was pronounced dead at the scene shortly after 5 a.m. Gunnar Knud Johansen, 36, of Buellton, driver of a second car was taken to Marian Hospital in Santa Maria with major injuries. Drivers of other two cars escaped injury.

California Highway Patrol officers said Howell's car veered into Johansen's car on a curve. The other two cars were wrecked when they hit debris from the Howell-Johansen accident.

Mary Calico Jones, of 920 W. Anthony Way, suffered minor injuries last Friday when she fell asleep at the wheel of her car on Highway 246 near Haggood Road and flipped over two times before coming to rest in a field.

She was treated at Vandenberg Air Force Base Hospital.

U.S. planes strike enemy antiaircraft bases south of DMZ

SAIGON (UPI) — American planes bombed antiaircraft batteries in North Vietnam in a retaliatory strike Sunday, destroying four guns and damaging three, military spokesmen said today. U.S. B52s flew raids south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

The B52s struck at Communist troop concentrations and antiaircraft site on the slopes of Dong Ha mountain three miles northwest of Fire Base Fuller. Another B52 attack was made against antiaircraft and storage sites 11 miles southeast of the old combat base at Khe Sanh in the northwestern corner of South Vietnam.

Communist troops attacked two companies of militiamen on the western outskirts of Saigon early today with rocket grenades and small arms fire, killing one and wounding three, spokesmen said.

The U.S. command said another 3,100 American servicemen were pulled out of Vietnam, lowering the U.S. strength in the country to 236,400. The withdrawals have been proceeding ahead of schedule toward President Nixon's Dec. 1 goal of reduction to 184,000, but the rate has slowed markedly since the middle of June.

Communist ground fire shot down another OH6 observation helicopter in Quang Ngai province 330 miles north of Saigon, wounding two crewmen. It was the 1,976th allied helicopter shot down in Vietnam since U.S. involvement began in 1961.

The guns destroyed in the bombing raid into North Vietnam Sunday included an 85mm cannon capable of using radar to direct its fire, military spokesmen said.

The spokesmen said the U.S. planes bombed the Communist batteries 79 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and two miles from the Laotian border in a "protective reaction" strike because they had fired on another Phantom over Laos.

It was the 46th raid of the year on North Vietnamese antiaircraft positions and the first time since May 10 that the U.S. command had announced that the targets were knocked out.

The Phantom that was fired on while supporting a bombing mission over the Ho Chi Minh trail was not hit.

South Vietnamese troops began rebuilding Fire Base Fuller, anchor of the defense line along the DMZ, Sunday and there were indications that heavy bombing by U.S. B52s has blunted the North Vietnamese summer offensive.

U.S. Army CH47 Chinook helicopters landed prefabricated bunkers at Fuller to replace those destroyed by artillery and bombing last month during a week of heavy fighting in which Communist troops at one point overran the hilltop base and later abandoned it.

Two North Vietnamese infantry regiments and a rocket battalion that had been involved in the attacks on the fire base have been pulled back after a heavy pounding from U.S. B52s. Field reports said the Communists fired 11 rounds of 120mm mortar shells into Fuller Saturday afternoon but caused no casualties.

In Cambodia, the high command said two major government posts in the marshes east of Phnom Penh were hit by Communist mortar fire but no damage was reported. Action elsewhere in Cambodia was light and scattered Sunday, spokesmen said.

The South Vietnamese command reported two companies of government troops killed 14 Communists in a raid on a position 17 miles southeast of Hue in the northern sector and ambushed a rice-gathering patrol in the same area, killing another 18. There were no South Vietnamese fatalities, the command said.

state of economy described as 'lousy' and 'sick'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany today described the nation's economy as "just plain lousy." House Speaker Carl Albert called it "sick."

Both men criticized Nixon Administration economic policies as the labor organization opened a two-day conference on job opportunities. Meany was especially critical of Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

"He (Connally) is a proven expert at Texas politics and knows quite a bit about the oil companies and their needs and the banks and the insurance companies and what they want. I'm not sure he knows much about the national economy and I am certain he doesn't understand the problems of American workers."

Albert, addressing the labor leaders, said "There is no prognosis of improvement for the foreseeable future" in unemployment and inflation.

"We have 5.5 million unemployed Americans as the price of these (administration) policies without benefit to the rest of us, and have bartered gainful employment for a sick economy," Albert said. "Yet the President seems incapable of viewing inflation as a broad based phenomenon and continues to point the finger at labor alone."

"In times as complex as these, we have to jettison the worthless ballast of outdated economic theory. Government as the employer of last resort in an emergency situation is clearly the fairest and most efficient answer."

Albert said President Nixon's veto of legislation to provide more public service jobs was "inexplicable."

Meany, in a television appearance Sunday, also criticized Connally and administration economic policies. He said if he was Nixon he would impose wage-price controls.

"I don't see any other way that this situation is going to get under control," Meany said. "We have an inflationary psychology in this country. We have people raising prices when there is just no reason."

Meany said he was not necessarily endorsing wageprice controls, but would accept them if they were applied fairly and evenly.

Meany was particularly critical of Connally in his appearance today.

He said Connally showed a shocking lack of faith in the American people by suggesting unemployment always will be high, except in wartime.

Such a suggestion, Meany added, "sounds like acceptance of Communist propaganda. The new chief economic spokesman of the administration may believe his dismal pronouncement. The AFL-CIO won't buy it."

Connally, a Democrat and former Texas governor who has been mentioned as a possible '72 Nixon running mate, recently was dubbed by Nixon his chief economic spokesman. Meany's attack on the administration in general, and Connally in particular, came in remarks prepared for the opening session of an AFL-CIO conference on jobs.

"The AFL-CIO called this conference," Meany said, "because the state of America's economy is just plain lousy." He said the President promised to end the Vietnam War and end inflation without causing unemployment.

"He is making good on his first promise," Meany said. "He has reduced the number of American casualties; he is bringing American boys home. The war is winding down, and we give Mr. Nixon credit for that."

State employees will be asked to strike if pay not raised

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The 114,000 members of the California State Employees Association (CSEA) will be asked for a strike vote if the legislature does not provide pay increases, the association's board of directors has decided.

The 27-member board voted overwhelmingly Saturday to take the strike vote if the legislature refuses to override Gov. Ronald Reagan's veto of 10 per cent pay hikes for University of California and state college faculty and five per cent raises for other state workers.

The salary boosts were included in the budget the legislature sent to Reagan but were part of the $500 million he vetoed before signing the $6.78 billion spending program for 1971-72.

If the override is unsuccessful, the CSEA board would wait for legislative action on special bills providing the pay raises or for it to be included in a tax increase proposal.

"If such action is unsuccessful, the association will take a strike vote of all its active employed members," the motion approved by the board said. The vote would take place at the end of the 1971 legislative veto session, probably late in the fall, or earlier, at the discretion of the President.

But CSEA executive director Loren Smith warned, "failure would come quickly if a strike was called at this time."

"I believe in the peaceful alternative," said Smith. "That's the strongest position you can take."

Smith said if the association's legislative program fails, "then we get mad —militancy at this point will fail."

Edward Ward, CSEA president, estimated chances for overriding the veto or passing the salary increase legislation were "slim."

Oregon governor charges Reagan is holding Nixon 'hostage'

JACKSON HOLE, Wyo. (UPI)—Charging that Gov. Ronald Reagan is holding President Nixon "hostage," Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon said he wants to discuss Reagan's opposition to the President at the Western Governors' Conference opening today.

"I recognize that Reagan's differences with the president are sincere," McCall said Sunday, "but the scrapping and the Legislature has only three weeks

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Legislative leaders are hoping to solve the major problems of educational finance, welfare and Medi-Cal "reform" and taxes in the three weeks left before their summer vacation.

The Senate is to act on a Democratic-sponsored welfare plan this week while the Assembly prepares to vote on a $250 million school finance bill by Chairman Leroy Greene, D-Sacramento, of the Assembly Education Committee.

Leaders of both parties in the Assembly agreed that a tax shift proposal would have to be last on the agenda—after some action is taken on education, welfare and Medi-Cal.

"That's the logical way," said Chairman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, of the Assembly Welfare Committee. "The total magnitude of the tax package depends on those other factors."

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, was confident of approval of the education measure even though Gov. Ronald Reagan

Leak in cabin killed cosmonauts

MOSCOW (UPI)—Official investigators said today a sudden loss of cabin pressure through a leaky seal killed the three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts only 30 minutes away from touching down on earth after nearly 24 days in space.

The key finding of the report, made public 12 days after the June 30 deaths, was that the cosmonauts were victims of a defect in their ship and had not succumbed to the physical punishment of their record 23-day flight.

clawing hays to stop. I resent any governor holding the President hostage."

"The California governor has given President Nixon more anguish," McCall said, "than any other governor—Republican or Democrat."

Both McCall and Reagan are Republicans.

The Oregon chief executive told newsmen that Reagan potentially was more dangerous politically to Nixon than Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., who is challenging the President for renomination next year.

"I don't think McCloskey can make a ripple, but Reagan could," McCall said.

McCall said Reagan commands a great deal of influence as governor of the nation's most populous state. And he indicated Reagan was holding Nixon hostage by bartering his influence for federal concessions on such issues as welfare and California Rural Legal Assistance.

"I don't think the President should be demeaned," McCall said. "Reagan has really put the President behind the eight ball and its time to let him out."

Reagan has pledged to support Nixon's re-election in 1972, but has not ruled himself out of the race if the President unexpectedly does not run.

Reagan has been one of the nation's harshest critics of the President's welfare reform plan and is sponsoring an alternative which has been rejected by the California Legislature. He also was loudly critical of an investigation of the California Rural Legal Assistance by a commission, appointed by the Nixon administration, which decided to continue the antipoverty agency in existence.

"President Nixon has been squeezed unduly by the governor of California," McCall said. "It's time now for all our Republicans to get behind Nixon."

McCall said he would attempt to confer privately with Reagan this week and convince him to be less critical of the Nixon administration.

"I think this would be a good time to kind of consult, get everybody aside and see whether we can't get a good unity thing going for the president," McCall said.

The governor said amendments would be offered incorporating his plan into the Beilenson program when the proposal is considered by the Senate.

Reagan warned rejection of his plan would amount to a "vote for a tax increase" normally until their descent capsule began its glide toward earth.

"On the ship's descent trajectory, 30 minutes before landing, there occurred a rapid drop of pressure within the descent vehicle which led to the sudden deaths of the cosmonauts," it said.

"The drop in pressure resulted from a loss of the ships sealing, and an inspection of the descent vehicle ... showed that there are no failures (ruptures) in its structure."

The report, circulated by the Tass News Agency, concluded that the reason for the fatal leak had not yet been pinned down from "a number of probable causes." It said the study was continuing.

The official report essentially confirmed information circulated earlier by non-Soviet Communist sources, who said that the leak came through the seal around a hatch which had become an external door to space at the moment the ship began its descent. That was when the descent ship separated from its orbital compartment, making the inner connecting door an outside door.

Although the report did not say so, the sudden loss of air pressure means that the lives of the spacemen were snuffed out in a vacuum—robbed of oxygen, and their bloodstreams suffused suddenly with air bubbles similar to the fatal "bends" that deep sea divers suffer.

The cosmonauts were not wearing pressurized space suits.

Want proposal accepted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The families of some of the men being held prisoner in Vietnam have urged President Nixon to accept the Communists' latest peace offer, saying they fear the President is putting the safety of the Saigon government ahead of rescue of the POWs.

Six women, calling themselves "Families For Immediate Release" and claiming to represent many families besides themselves, appealed to Nixon in a letter delivered to the California White House last week.

Mrs. Philip Culbertson, McLean, Va., one of the signers, said "we intended it originally to be a silent plea for help, but when we saw that the talks were not going well, we decided to speak out."

The letter pointed out that the Communist proposal offered release of all American POWs simultaneously with a total U.S. withdrawal by year's end and coalition government in Saigon. The women said they feared the administration might reject the Communist offer, sacrificing the POWs to prop up the pro-American government in Saigon.

"We feel our government's obligation to the American prisoners now should take precedence over its obligation to the government of South Vietnam," the letter said.

The women said the administration had promised to pull out of Vietnam if the prisoners were released and "now we plead with you not to go back on your word."

Bomb destroyed shop center?

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—An explosive device on the roof or ceiling of a grocery store caused the blast that tore apart a shopping center Thursday, killing one man, Southwest Gas Corp. said Sunday.

"A team of investigators informed us today that the blast was caused by a highly concentrated solid explosive ... said company spokesman John DuBois.

However, Fire Chief Jerry Miller said the investigation was incomplete and that gas had not been ruled out as a cause. The series of explosions destroyed five stores in the block-long shopping center and heavily damaged three others.

Nixon to sign employment bill

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI)—President Nixon was signing emergency employment legislation today designed to create up to 200,000 jobs for some of the 5.5 million Americans out of work.

The President was signing the legislation at 1 p.m. EDT, making good a promise he tendered June 29 when he vetoed a different job-creating bill. The earlier measure would have produced public works jobs—a tactic Nixon rejected as a dead-end, WPA-type approach.

The bill that went under Nixon's pen today provided $2.25 billion during the next two years to cover 90 per cent of the cost of creating jobs in such areas as police and fire protection, health, education, parks and highway maintenance, and recreation and environmental projects.

Veterans who served in Indochina or Korea since 1964 will be given special consideration when the new jobs are filled. There are an estimated 350,000 unemployed Vietnam veterans.

States and cities may apply for funds to bolster police or fire forces or to fill such jobs as recreation counselors and public health workers—positions that may be vacant because of tight local budgets.

The program starts immediately because the bill specified that it is effective whenever the national unemployment rate is 4.5 per cent or higher until July 1, 1974. The June jobless rate was 5.6 per cent.

The measure features a special program of aid for areas of persistent high unemployment, authorizing $250 million for jobs in areas where the jobless rate is 6 per cent or higher—even if the national rate drops below 4.5 per cent.

Nixon had insisted earlier in the year that the Democratic-sponsored measure be shelved in favor of this special revenue sharing proposal for manpower training. That proposal, defeated in the House, would have consolidated a dozen training programs in different government agencies.

Obituaries

Benjamin Joyner

Funeral services were held this afternoon at McPeck Family Mortuary for infant Benjamin Lee Joyner, six-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Joyner, 1529 W. Lemon. The child died Thursday. Officiating was Rev. David Chamberlain with the Valley Chapel Interdenominational Christian Church. Burial followed at Evergreen Cemetery.

In addition to the parents, the child is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Joyner of Richardson, Tex. and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gilling of Lompoc; and great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hixson, also of Lompoc.

Rose Cobb

Graveside services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Lompoc Evergreen Cemetery for Mrs. Rose L. Cobb, 82, who died Friday at Inter Valley Community Hospital in Saugus. In charge of the service will be Mrs. Frances Short, Religious Science Practitioner.

Born in Lompoc Feb. 10, 1889, to Mr. and Mrs. W.P. Hogan, she attended local schools. Her first job was with the Home Telephone Company. As Mrs. John Cobb, she and her family lived for many years in Phoenix, Ariz., later moving to Sun Valley. Upon her late husband's retirement, they moved to Santa Cruz. About a year ago, Mrs. Cobb moved to Newhall to be near her family there.

Survivors include her children, Mrs. Cecil Cook of Santa Barbara, Mrs. Roger Holt of Newhall, James Larimer of North Hollywood and William Larimer of Honolulu; three sisters, Mrs. Albert Sperber of Lompoc, Mrs. Cornelius Kooyman of San Francisco and Mrs. Charles Dougherty of Reedley; and five grandchildren.

Conducting the arrangements is Hilburn's Chapel Service of Newhall.

Wesley N. Keys

Rosary was recited last night at La Purisima Catholic Church for Wesley N. Keys, 60, who died Friday night at his home, 333 S. E. St. Requiem mass was said this morning for the retired green house manager for Bodger Seed Company, also at La Purisima Catholic Church. Officiating was Father John Fitzgerald. Burial followed at Evergreen Cemetery.

Born Mar. 4, 1911 in Fon du Lac, Wisc., where he graduated from local schools, he was in the nursery business until he moved to Denver, Colo., where he taught at the Denver School of Floral Design. In 1949, he became employed at Bodger Seed Company in Lompoc. An active member of the community until his illness, he was past president of Lompoc Rotary Club, a former Valley Club member and held honorary life memberships with the National Delphinium Society and the British Delphinium Society. He also participated as flower specimen judge for the Alpha Club, the Santa Ynez Valley and Santa Barbara County Fair flower shows. He and his widow, Catherine, were married at La Purisima Catholic Church on Christmas night, 1951.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Margaret and Anna Marie, also of Lompoc; a brother Harry of Fon du Lac, Wisc.; and two sisters, Marjean Hall of Rosendale, Wisc. and Mrs. Clem Peters of Fon du Lac.

Friends may make memorial contributions to the Lompoc Hospital Visiting Nurses or La Purisima Catholic Church.

Conducting the arrangements was Dudley-Hoffman Mortuary in Santa Maria.

General relieved of command

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command said today Maj. Gen. James L. Baldwin has been relieved of command of the Americal Division, whose troops manned an artillery base in which Communist sappers killed 33 Americans last March and wounded 76.

Baldwin has completed one year of a Vietnam tour which usually is at least 18 months for commanding generals. He handed over command last Friday to Maj. Gen. Frederick J. Kroesen Jr., former assistant chief of staff for operations of the military command in Saigon, spokesmen said.

The command declined further comment on the change of command except to say that Baldwin "will be reassigned by the Department of Army."

Record carriers honored

Special awards were presented for outstanding performance during June to Lompoc Record carrier salesmen by Circulation Director Wes Huffman.

Six carriers were honored for signing a minimum of 15 new customers, having no service errors and keeping perfect financial records. They were: Walter Poor Jr., 1300 W. Lime; Milton Orm, 1316 W. Lime; Jimmy Walker, 1304 W. Olive; Steve Wilson, 1118 Acacia, Vandenberg AFB; Brian Fraser, 524 Gum, Vandenberg AFB; Bill Allen, 1013 Sumac, Vandenberg AFB.

Honor awards for signing 15 new customers during a three month period and having no service errors went to Terry Walker, 1304 W. Olive; Bud Dutra, 114 N. O.; Jay Spurgin, 815 W. Apricot; Steve Richardson, 617 G. N. Fourth; Richard O'Neal, 1005 N. Orchid; John Collier, 608 E. North; Gary Honeycutt, Jr., 538 N. Billie Sol Estes out of jail

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Billie Sol Estes walked out of jail today a free man after serving slightly more than six years of a 15-year sentence for his part in a multimillion dollar swindle.

Estes, 46, left La Tuna federal prison at 12:03 a.m. MDT and joined his family waiting outside.

Estes was granted parole on the condition that he refrains from "promotional activities." His wife said this means "keeping his mouth shut."

Publicity surrounding the release was kept to a minimum. The prison did not announce what time he was to leave the premises today, the day stimulated as the date of his parole, and newsmen were kept at least a half mile from the prison gates.

Estes, his hair longer and his figure trimmer than when he first entered prison March 5, 1965, sat in the back seat of a car with his daughters as they drove from the prison.

"On his own time he's been doing a lot of running, jogging, you know, to keep in shape," Mrs. Estes said before the release.

Mrs. Estes said the two will take a vacation this week and return to Abilene, where Estes plans to work on a farm. His brother, a dentist, has a practice in Abilene and has employed Estes' wife as a helper.

Before Estes' multimillion dollar empire collapsed under the strain of debt and scandal, the Estes lived in style in a $150,000 home in Pecos.

Estes' swindle involved farmers, finance companies and politicians, and all lost money when the scheme fell through.

Estes sold fertilizer tanks which were never built to farmers who did not need them. He got them to sign mortgages by giving them 10 per cent of the face value of the mortgage and promising to send them a check every month to cover payments.

Estes next sold the mortgages at a discount to big finance companies. With cash from these sales, he bought grain elevators and fertilizer companies.

His goal was to corner the West Texas grain storage market.

But before the grain business was going strong enough to yield the profits Estes expected, the mortgages payments to the farmers became too much for him.

Hurricane to dissipate

HONOLULU (UPI) Hurricane Denise changed course early today, moving closer to Hawaii but away from the 69 transpacific yachts racing from Los Angeles to Honolulu.

The National Weather Service said the maximum winds had dropped from the 115 miles per hour recorded Saturday to 63 m.p.h., and it appeared likely Denise would dissipate to a tropical storm if it brushed the islands.

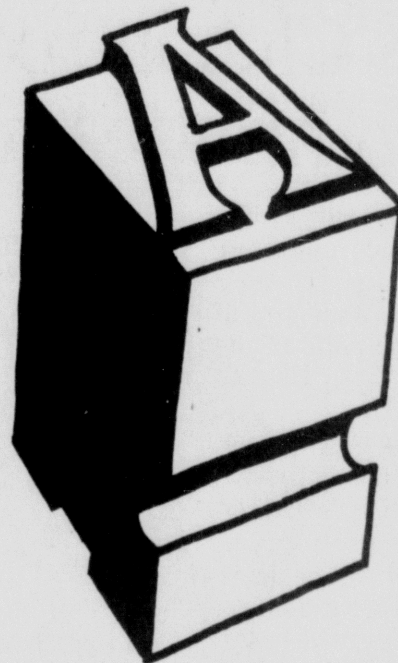

Denise had been on a collision course with the leaders in the transpac race as it moved across the Pacific 700 miles southeast of Honolulu on a west-northwest course at 14 m.p.h.

The new southerly tack would put Denise on a course paralleling the yachts which have been following the Great Circle route from California and are northeast of Oahu.

If Denise continues on its new course, it will come closest to Hawaii late today.

Womans Club introduces new board, committee members

New Lompoc Community Woman's Club board members, chairmen and co-chairmen were introduced last week at a meeting of the organization in the patio of the home of President Mrs. Reuben Carlson, 634 N. First St.

A salad lunch was served and the culmination of summer activities and plans for the winter season were discussed.

Meeting of the board will begin at 1 p.m. in board member's homes. The first board meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Wendal Swanson Sept. 1.

Membership chairman, Mrs. Dean Martin, reported on the membership drive conducted during the summer with prospective members called.

Mrs. Wendall Swanson's program committee attended the Talent Agent Robert Amcur's show for a review of programs for the ensuing year.

It was agreed that Woman's Club luncheons will be held at different restaurants each month to create interest and variety. Luncheon chairman, Mrs. Leonard Akronowitz reported that the first luncheon will be at the Country Club and will feature a fashion show.

Prospective members will be invited to attend.

Busy Bee's arts and crafts Christmas sale will be held Dec. 2 and 3 at Del Norte Mobile Park Recreation building.

Garden Section Chairman Mrs. Robert Dunn reported that the garden section will have a flower arrangement in the County Fair in Santa Maria in the club arrangement category.

Busy Bee section of the club will meet Friday, July 16, at the home of Mrs. Robert McCarthy, 425 S. C St. at 10 a.m. Members are asked to bring a sack lunch and shears.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both in our early forties and we have always had what I considered to be a good marriage. My husband has been a controlled diabetic for some time, but now he has high blood pressure. He recently told me that his doctor has informed him that he cannot have marital relations with me anymore as the excitement might further damage his health. Can this be true?

Don't suggest I ask his doctor because his doctor is his golfing buddy and he would never make a liar out of my husband even if he was one.

WONDERING IN N.J.
DEAR WONDERING: Yes, it's possible that your husband's doctor told him what he told you. But if you suspect your husband of trying to avoid marital relations with you by giving you a phony medical report, you have more trouble than a sick husband — you have a sick marriage.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from MISERABLE IN MAINE — the girl who was engaged to a disabled veteran — hit close to home with me.

I walked down the aisle to marry a man who was waiting for me in a wheelchair. It was a beautiful wedding, and I felt like the luckiest girl in the world to be marrying such a wonderful man.

We've been married for four years and we couldn't be happier. Our son is three and our daughter is two, and we go on picnics, fishing trips and camping vacations together. My husband is an excellent swimmer, and altho he can't water ski, he drives our boat very well. Our kids don't feel cheated because their father is handicapped. They get more attention than most of their friends whose fathers are able-bodied.

Your answer was perfect. "If you really love him, nobody will be able to talk you out of marrying him!"

That's exactly what I would have told her.

HAPPY IN ARKANSAS

DEAR HAPPY: Would you believe you have company in every state of the union, and Canada, Ireland and Italy as well?

DEAR ABBY: This is for the babe who says "pumping gas" is only a sideline — those nice men in the service stations are really there to give directions to people who get lost.

Is that so? I have helped hundreds of "lost" drivers get back on the right road. About half the folks who pull up here want everything but what we are selling. We call them "I.W.W.'s" (Information, Wind and Water.) You sure have to fight to make a buck in this business!

LOU IN CANNON FALLS
DEAR LOU: You forgot those fellow travelers who want the key to your restroom.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell Elizabeth K. I would like to be her vice president of the "See America Unintentionally" Society, because getting lost is what I do best.

Would you believe that while driving thru Louisville, I somehow meandered around, trying to get out of town, and not once, but three times I drove up to the "Welcome to Louisville" sign?

So, move over, Elizabeth, if I can find you I will be your helper. Actually, I started out to hunt you, stopped for gas on the Interstate, drove out of the station, turned the wrong way and wound up home.

ANOTHER TRAIL BLAZER

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Wrong Way Corrigan," (the lady motorist who always gets lost): Welcome to the club! Don't be upset about getting places in a 'roundabout' fashion. It's better than most people who don't drive can do. Besides, you're not really "lost." You are just misplaced for the moment.

Did you consider that gas stations are really for giving directions? Selling gas is a sideline. Some of the nicest people in the world are gas station attendants, policemen and dog walkers. I know. I have met thousands of them. I have 34,000 miles on my car, of which 4,000 are "misplaced."

Traveling without adequate directions is a challenge. Besides, you become a source of amusement to your friends who begin to look forward to the story of your "safaris." Perfection is boring!

President of See America Unintentionally Club.

DEAR ABBY: I am not saying this to brag, but I am the favorite relative in a family where there is a lot of backbiting and petty fighting going on. A niece of mine invited

Sandra Wootten bride of Nathan Armstrong

Vows were exchanged during a double ring ceremony by Miss Sandra L. Wootten and Nathan Aaron Armstrong recently at the San Bernardino First Christian Church. The former Miss Wootten is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Wootten, 2498 Cedar St. in San Bernardino while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Armstrong, Route 1, Box 367 in Lompoc.

The bride, attired in a lovely white wedding gown of cotton and lace with flocked design, was made by her grandmother Mrs. B. Hackley. The floor length skirt was double-tiered, the tight-fitting sleeves, leg-of mutton style. Maid of honor, Barbara Gatton and bridesmaids Cindy Wootten, sister of the bride, and Jill Hackley, the bride's cousin, were outfitted in matching blue gowns.

Dan Wood served as best man. Ushers were Woody Smith and Gary Wootten, brother of the bride. The "Wedding Prayer" was sung by Dennis Shepard.

The church was decorated with white lilies and chrysanthemums. Approaching the altar, the bride and her wedding entourage stepped down the satin-lined aisle. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Jolly.

The bride's mother chose a pale pink dress with matching accessories and a white carnation corsage. A pink double knit dress was selected by the groom's mother, accented with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

A reception followed in the church hall, with 200 in attendance. A four-tiered cake centered the arrangement of two 90-inch tables, enhanced by floral decorations. The table covering was skirted with chintilly lace. Serving punch and coffee were Mmes. Wilbur Smith and Ted Vick and Miss Margaret Erhard and Miss Christy Gilford, all of San Bernardino.

The wedding celebration was continued with an informal patio reception afterwards, with about 25 relatives in attendance. Gifts were opened and a buffet was served.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Pacific High School in San Bernardino and is employed as a nurse at the Marian Hospital in Santa Maria.

Other out-of-town guests included Mrs. Thomas Downs and sons Bryan and Mark of Miami, Fla. Mrs. Downs is the sister of the groom.

The groom is a 1967 Lompoc High School graduate and attended two years at Allan Hancock College and a year at Fresno State College. He is employed at the Circle J (Jordano's) supermarket in Santa Maria.

The couple enjoyed their honeymoon in San Diego and Mexico. They are now at home at 930 W. Cook St. in Santa Maria.

Lompocans big hit at rally

The Southern California Aristocrat Trailer Rally at Ventura was attended by 144 trailers and about 450 trailerists.

Clinics, a bake-off and bingo were some of the events enjoyed with many worth while prizes given. A steak barbecue dinner was served Saturday evening, and a noon potluck was held on Sunday.

The Lompoc Club was a big hit with their floral blouses and shirts and beautifully floral decorated trailers. Met with much enthusiasm were the brochures of Lompoc Valley and packets of sweet pea seeds given out by the local club. Because of this, a number of the members drove to Lompoc on Sunday to view the flower fields and Festival activities. Many expressed desires to visit next year's Flower Festival.

Attending the rally from Lompoc were the Jack Brandons, Irving Brooks, Bill Bryans, Harold Cambells, Major Ducketts, Kermit Hovers, Jerry Hrdys and Lea Ann, Tony Jefferys, Mathew Lees, Kenneth Mains, Max Martinez, John McCarthys, Larry Pittmans and Bruce and Earle Ross's.

Bridge play

The results of the duplicate bridge tournaments during the past week in the Lompoc-Vandenberg area were:

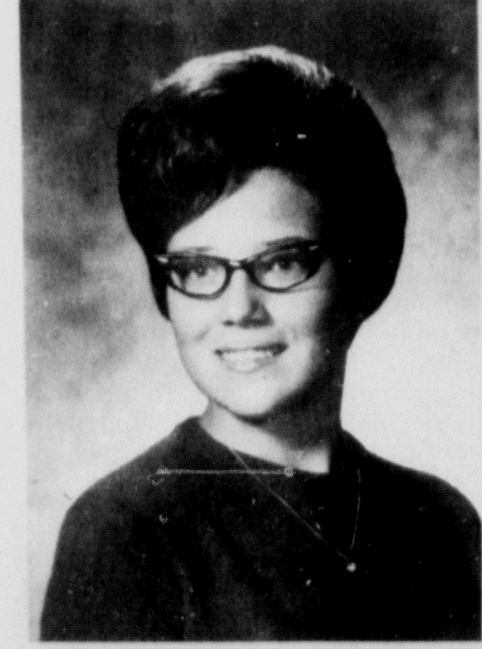

Thursday, July 1 — North-South: Eileen Niesen and James Longtin, first; Don Ausbrooks and Mary Louise Wallace, second; Bill Rudman and Barbara Jaenicke, third.

East-West: Jo Gowenlock and Donna Swinnea, first; Patti Ausbrooks and Jefna Longtin, second; John and Marian Fagan.

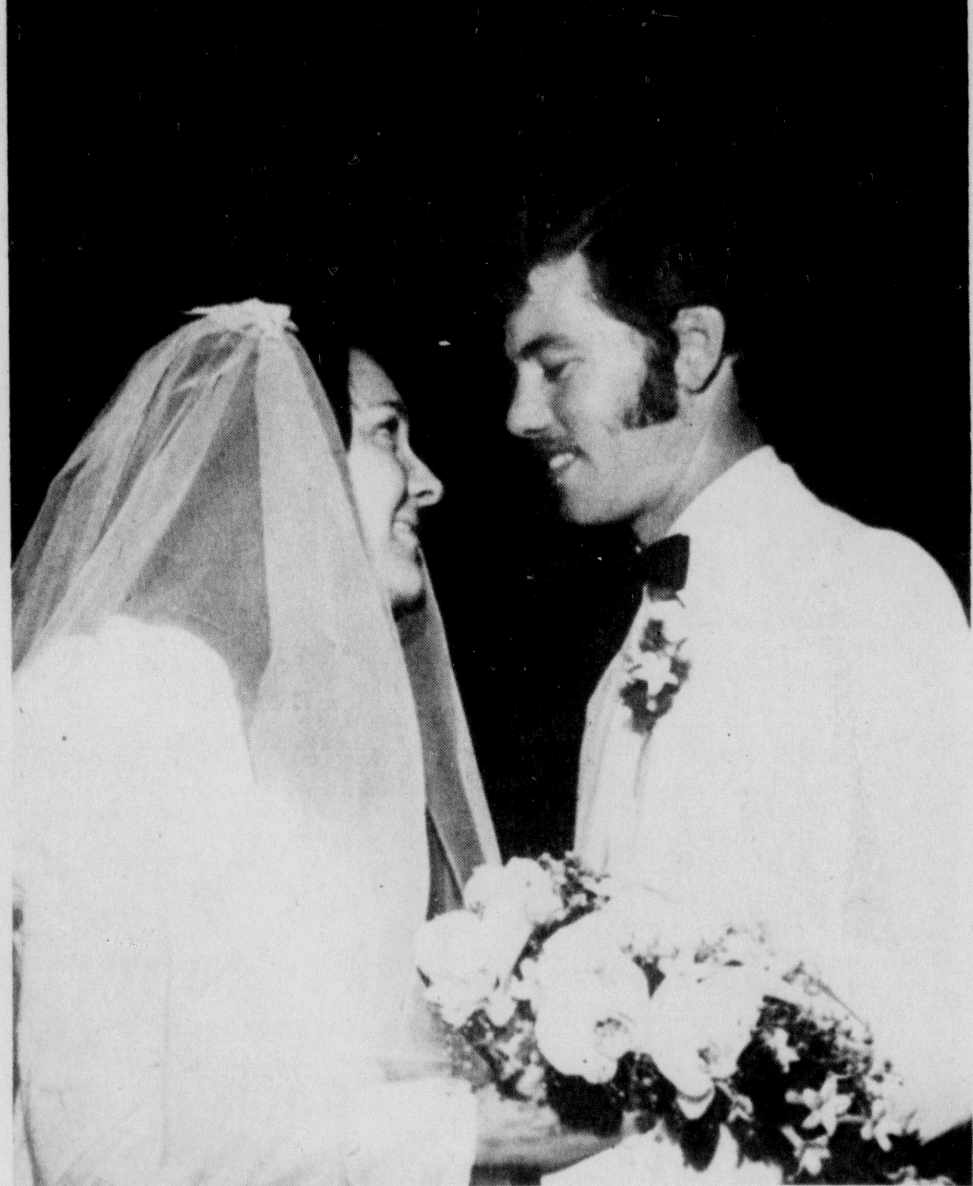

Sunday, July 4 — Jo Gowenlock and Mary Louise Wallace, first; J. Freeman and Bunny Haig, second; Hope Howard and Jefna Longtin tied with Ruth and Herschel Roberts, for third and fourth.

Tuesday, July 6 — Dan Boone and Tom Preece, first; Vicky and George Tucker, second; Norbert Baumgarten and Sally Cullen, Bill Rudman and Barbara Jaenicke and Myra Larsen and Muriel Hennessy, tied for third, fourth and fifth.

Regular games are held at the Alpha Clubhouse, Ocean and B Streets, Lompoc, every Thursday and on the second and fourth Saturday at 7 p.m. and on the first and third Sunday at 7 p.m. and every Monday afternoon at 1 p.m. Every Tuesday night at 7:15 p.m. a game is held at the Vandenberg Officer's Club. Anyone interested in any game call Regent 6-6620 for further information.

ENGAGEMENT of Miss Vivian Wilks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wilks of Bailey Avenue, Lompoc, was announced today to Richard Wayland Williams, son of Mrs. Cletus Williams of Orcutt. Miss Wilks is a 1970 graduate of Allan Hancock College. Her fiancé is presently serving in the U.S. Navy. An August 14 wedding is planned.

Local Youth volunteers leave for Central America mission

Four Lompoc volunteers in the Amigos De Las Americas program left Thursday for an adventure in Central America. Adventure makes their journey sound light-hearted, but it will be a serious trip involving lots of hard work.

Susan Erdman and Donna Ingram, a Senior and a Junior at Cabrillo High School, Teresita Hinojosa, a college Freshman and John Waller, a third year college student are the four representatives. Another volunteer, Joanna Harris, plans to follow the group later this summer. They belong to the Amigos - Lompoc chapter under the supervision of Rev. Richard Harris.

These students have undergone six months of training. They have learned immunization techniques, first-aid, public health, nutrition, and studied Spanish language and culture. For three weeks they will work in the rural villages of Honduras and Nicaragua.

One village will be their home base, but they will make "aldeas" trips, day journeys, to nearby villages. Here they will live and eat with the villagers until their return on August 1st.

The program was started to provide medical treatment. Its objective was to immunize some of the rural population of Central and South America against diphtheria, smallpox, polio and other diseases which science can to some extent control.

From Los Angeles International Airport they will fly to Houston, Tex. At the Amigos Headquarters there they will undergo two days of last minute orientation. A plane out of Houston will take them to their respective countries and from there they will go by available transportation to the villages.

These young ambassadors will teach and learn. They are going on an adventure, but not a vacation.

Since its inauguration in 1965, the program has expanded to teach hygiene, English classes, and help the villagers take advantage of some of the modern conveniences that were previously out of their reach.

Each volunteer devises a village project to benefit the entire community. This could be anything from building toilet facilities to planting gardens. It is appropriate that some of the students from Lompoc are taking along flower seeds for their projects.

BETROTHAL of Miss Elaine Grossini was announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Grossini of 1216 E. North Ave. Miss Grossini is engaged to Greg Townes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Townes of 901 N. Gardenia. A 1971 graduate of Lompoc High School, Miss Grossini is currently employed at J. C. Penney's in Lompoc. Her fiancé is a 1970 graduate of Lompoc High School and is currently employed at Sears Roebuck in Lompoc. No date has been set for the wedding.

Retired persons to hear executive of association

Joe C. Gunn, manager of Administrative Services and Facilities of the Long Beach, Calif. offices of the American Association of Retired Persons and the National Retired Teachers Association, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Lompoc Chapter No. 557, AARP, on July 15 at the Veterans Memorial Building.

A retired Major in the Army, Gunn joined AARP-NRTA in 1962 as an Executive Assistant in Washington D.C., and in 1965, he moved to Long Beach and became Dean of the newly organized Institute of Lifetime Learning. In his present position, Gunn is responsible for the general operation of the offices, including personnel and the services necessary to maintain the efficient functioning of the Associations' West Coast Headquarters.

In the Army, he served in Europe and the Orient and attended several service schools. From 1949 to 1953 he was an instructor at the Provost Marshal General School, Fort Gordon, Georgia. He was awarded the Bronze Star and 14 other decorations by the Army.

Born in Oklahoma, Gunn attended San Antonio College and the European Division of the University of Maryland.

Frederick J. Bremerman of 309

South N Street, Lompoc is the president of the local chapter and coordinator for Gunn's visit.

With a combined membership of over 2.8 million persons, the two Associations are the nation's largest organization dedicated to helping older Americans achieve retirement lives of independence, dignity and purpose.

Other services sponsored by AARP-NRTA to help members stretch retirement incomes are a travel service geared to mature needs, a temporary employment service, an award-winning publication program, recommended group health, life and automobile insurance programs and a continuing education program. Annual dues are $2.

Patricia Voelker engagement told

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Voelker of Campbell Road, Lompoc announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Anne, to Sgt. Wayne M. Davey, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Davey, 344 Eileen, Orcutt.

Miss Voelker is currently working for Pacific Wood Products in Los Angeles. Sgt. Davey is attending drill instructor school at Fort Ord, California.

Feet at ease in vacation clothes

ADAPTABLE to climactic conditions at posh resorts is the short jumpsuit (left). It goes outdoors near pool or patio. The wrap-around quilted cotton skirt is the perfect cover-up in the air-conditioned dining room. While the model (right) enjoys the sights, everyone admires her in her knickers, vest and shirt. The perky, packable outfit is totally washable. These designs are by Howard B. Wolf.

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — "A woman is well dressed on her vacation if she looks totally natural in her new surroundings in clothes in which she feels completely at ease," said William M. Becker, president of Howard B. Wolf, a leading manufacturer of ready-to-wear for women on the go.

These days it's easier than ever to look natural and feel comfortable when you travel. A more relaxed lifestyle here and abroad permits freedom in the way a woman can dress.

"For example, a few years ago, you wouldn't dream of wearing slacks in London, Paris or New York," said Becker. "But now in all top fashion capitals latest pants styles are readily accepted."

Slim women—and only slim women—look appropriately attired for sight-seeing or an informal lunch date in knickers completely coordinated with rib-hugging vest and crisp shirt. "Of course, if you never wear knickers at home," Becker said, "you might feel self-conscious in them." He adds that one solution is plaid, knee-length city shorts with a matching jacket and solid shirt. The jacket is handy for cool mornings and can be removed in the warm part of the day.

New dresses in synthetic city-look tweeds go sightseeing also with easy-to-walk-in skirts and they dine out in dressy restaurants, too. Fabrics such as these are terrific travelers because they do not show wrinkles or soil as quickly as solids.

"City sightseeing clothes have become less formal, but evening wear at resorts has become dressier," said Becker. "There is a trend towards longer skirts at posh places such as Acapulco and San Juan and because air conditioning is often turned up to the point of pain, clothes have been designed to meet all climatic conditions," according to the manufacturer.

A quilted cotton wrap-around ankle length skirt goes gracefully into the air-conditioned restaurant over a short jumpsuit which peaks out as a body blouse. Sans skirt, the jumpsuit is worn for cocktails on the non-air-conditioned terrace or near the pool. Becker suggests that the woman who wants to stand out from the crowd wear black and white in a tropical setting rather than bright shades as a stunning contrast to vibrant flowers and foliage of the area.

Keeping the family budget in mind, he advises that you buy clothes for your vacation that you will wear again at home. "There is no such thing as a travel wardrobe. If you like it buy, pack and wear it everywhere. If not, leave it in the store," he said.

Sesame seed fried chicken

Sesame seeds and ground ginger vary chicken barbecue flavor.

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Sesame is one of the world's oldest spice and oil seeds. Like so many spices and herbs today it is having a renaissance in American cooking. Sesame makes a pleasant crunchy topping for a fried chicken dish. It may be stirred into a filling or stuffing, added to salad greens or buttered noodles. When adding to a mixture, toast sesame seeds in a moderate oven for 10 minutes.

SESAME CHICKEN BARBECUE

2½ to 3 lbs. chicken legs and thighs
¾ cup soy sauce
3 tbsps. sugar
1 tsp. ground ginger
¾ tsp. onion powder
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. garlic powder
2 tbsps. melted butter or oil
2 tbsps. sesame seeds, toasted*

Place chicken in a tight-fitting container or plastic bag. Mix soy sauce, sugar, ginger, onion powder, salt and garlic powder. Pour over chicken. Cover and refrigerate 2 to 4 hours. Remove chicken from marinade. Broil over hot charcoal or under preheated broiler 7 inches from heat source, 50 to 60 minutes, turning often. Brush with butter and marinade frequently during broiling. Sprinkle with sesame seeds when chicken is tender. Serve hot or cold. Makes 6 portions.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "While we were discussing lead-directing doubles a couple of weeks ago, we didn't get around to the Lightner slam double."

Jim: "The theory of this double, which was invented about the time I was born by Theodore A. Lightner, is that, when your opponents bid a slam under their own power, you won't get many chances to set them. Therefore, the double of a freely bid slam would call for an unusual lead."

Oswald: "Today's hand shows the Lightner slam double at its best. North and South reach a very sound contract of six spades. With normal defense, a heart will be opened and East will take the first trick. South will ruff the second heart, draw trumps and claim his contract."

Jim: "Now, see what happens when East doubles. West knows that he is supposed to make an unusual lead. His normal lead would be his partner's suit. His next choice the unbid suit, clubs. The most unusual lead would have to be diamonds, the suit bid by dummy. He leads a diamond. East ruffs and the almost ironclad slam has been beaten."

Oswald: "This was a very safe Lightner double. The bidding had marked South with a singleton heart. In addition, East knew that his opponents had no place to run. It also shows the value of this bid. East and West have picked up 200 points instead of losing 1,430."

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY—Rose asked how to address an invitation to a man and his wife who are both doctors. I would address it as follows: Drs. John and Mary Smith. —KAREN.

DEAR GIRLS—An expert on medical etiquette says Karen's answer would be correct for professional correspondence but that social correspondence should be addressed to Dr. and Mrs. John Smith. I must admit I would have done as Karen suggested.—POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I see recipes for quick breads to be baked in soup, fruit and coffee cans rather than the conventional loaf pans. I wonder if there could be anything on the inside of such containers that would make them harmful when used for baking in the oven.—NANCY

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is having to remove the labels from tin cans before opening them with an electric can opener. If the manufacturers would only make the labels a bit shorter and drop them down from the top we could open a can with the label still on it and not have chewed up paper falling into the contents when we go to empty the can.—E. L. J.

DEAR POLLY—To keep my plants watered while I am on vacation I use a huge plastic bag and slip each well-watered container into it. They are usually so massed in the sink area. Secure the bag opening. Presto—beautiful results. I pack this big bag away with the luggage when we return so it is a reminder and all ready when we plan to start again.—MRS. F. E.

DEAR POLLY—When you are going to wear a wig, pull all your own hair to the top of the head and secure with a pipe cleaner. While holding the hair in place with one hand the pipe cleaner is easily managed with the free hand. The soft covering on a pipe cleaner eliminates the danger of breaking and damaging the hair.—RUTH.

DEAR POLLY — When my 10-year-old sister was hospitalized I was at a loss as what to take her for a gift. I decided on a scrapbook and gummed tape so she could fill it with her cards and pressed flowers. This gave her something to do and interesting to have later on.—MRS. L. W.

DEAR POLLY—Dusting between the sections of radiators and under them used to be such a chore until I discovered that an ordinary windshield brush is a big help. It is narrow enough to not only get between those sections but under and behind the radiator. Works fine under low chests and other such pieces of furniture, too.—MRS. J. D. W.

DEAR POLLY—A salesman in a drapery shop told me this good way to replace a broken draw cord which might be interesting to those who have had the frustrating experience of trying to restring one or paid the cost of having it done.

Place the broken cord end to end with the new one. I think nylon wears longer than cotton, smoothly wrap a strong tape around the two until they are one. Draw out the old cord, which in turn draws in the new one. Draw out cial handling to the clamps which must be loosened to pull the cord through and then retighten when the length of the pull cords is adjusted.—BETTY

Your Birthday by Stella

MONDAY, JULY 12 — Born today, you are one of those persons who finds his primary inspiration in the love of friends and family. You do your best work in the shortest time when you are working to please someone of whom you are fond, whereas you are inclined to slacken your efforts and stretch out the work to fit the greatest amount of available time when there is no more than money or position involved. An early marriage and a young family to support could spur you on to genuine heights.

"He must be a 'bigwig.' They're supposed to 'open doors' for me today!"

Thoughtful by nature, and somewhat prone to sitting on the sidelines while others make things happen, you must take care that you don't allow the world to pass you by. Gifted with an analytical mind, a keen critical faculty, and a knack

Letters to the editor

Editor's Note:
The Lompoc Record welcomes letters to the editor. However, due to the increasing number of letters being received and the limited editorial space, no letters will be printed containing more than 300 words.
Further, no letters will be printed unless the letter writer signs the letter and includes an address and telephone number. Persons may ask that their name be withheld but no name will be withheld unless it is extremely obvious to the editor that the letter writer will be injured by revealing the name.

Dear Sir:
I cannot understand the thinking of our local businessmen, planning commission and Supervisor Beattie. They feel that spending over 7.5 million dollars of the taxpayer's money tearing up a beautiful scenic part of our area and putting in a four lane highway close to an existing four lane highway is actually supposed to bring business to Lompoc????
Maybe it is because I've only lived in the area a little over six years but I fail to see what Lompoc has to offer to the people of Santa Maria in the way of business or shopping opportunities. If anyone were to benefit, it seems as though it would be the merchants of other areas, leaving the people of Lompoc with an ugly gash through a once beautiful pine-studded mountain pass.

Mrs. Stella Peterson

Gentlemen:
As a member of no citizen's group other than that neglected group called the U.S. taxpayer, there are some things which distress me about the proposed freeway over Harris Grade.

1. Is it wise to spend ten million dollars to save 4.2 miles between Lompoc and Santa Maria? I think not.
2. If the freeway were built would Lompoc's business profits soar due to the influx of all those Santa Marians eager to rush to Lompoc to take advantage of that phenomenal 4-minute saving in driving time? I think not.

3. If those Santa Marians do flock over here, what will Lompocans be doing — spending all their money in Lompoc? I think not.

4. Do you suppose the Santa Maria Chamber of Commerce supports the freeway because it will make more money for Lompoc businesses? I think not.

5. Recently our County Board of Supervisors decided to put off voting on this controversial issue because "there were strong indications... it might have been rejected 3-2." (Lompoc Record, July 7, 1971) Our Board of Supervisors must be interested in fair play, that being the American way. Is it then a logical conclusion that they would also have postponed their vote if there were strong indications it might have been approved 3-2? I think not.

Very truly yours,
William W. Risch

Dear Sir:
Speaking for the L. W. McIntoshes and the Sgt. "Red" Densmores, many thanks to many people. Working with a queen candidate is one heck of an experience. For 10 or 11 weeks every emotion is used and re-used — love, anger, frustration, tired blood and split personality "to be honest or not." "keep trying or quit." Then you wonder where in the heck is that membership of 360 hiding? So you make up a fast list and come up with 40 or 50 and feel surprised there were that many, but that still isn't a very good percentage because the 360 doesn't include the 100 plus of the auxiliary, plus the drum and bugle corps, plus three full baseball teams.

The members were not given one or two books and told to sell them or buy them, although for some of us it certainly would have been a lot cheaper. So a very special set of thanks to Penneys for fashions, Ruby Pico for Western fashions, Bob Bouslaugh for the use of the Bee Hive, Mr. Murry's furniture for a wasted afternoon, Bob Cruickshank at Hillcrest Golf Range, Bill and Evelyn Milbourne for working on their day off on three occasions and the Legion Auxiliary, Louise Anderson for ticket sales, Dallas White of drum and bugle and Mr. Legion "hissself" Mr. Harley Craig for he is a darn good dish washer and morale builder.

As parents, the Densmores worked, donated and kept up a fantastic pace whenever and wherever required. The pace for all the candidates is a real dilly. Grades at school were a real hazard, social life and boy friends quite often didn't survive, personal finances zoomed for more clothes, gas and eating on the run. Most organizations spend three months preparing for a project that will net $300 but this is three months at $300 a week. On the plus side there are nine smarter girls. They had to polish up the talent and mature fast and it was a joy to watch them blossom.

As queen, Robin has represented Lompoc with dignity and charm on TV, radio, horse show, fireworks, Alpha Flower show, awarding trophies and getting dunked...

To any not mentioned please forgive...

The McIntoshes

Dear editor:
The Flower Festival Queen should be selected only by the candidate who sells the most tickets. The talents of the candidates are there. I'm sure their talent was one of the reasons why the organizations they represented selected them.

By the present way of electing a Queen, it makes no difference how many tickets a candidate sells, as long as she makes the top five. However, if the candidate makes the finalists but her talents and physical beauty are not as "appealing" to the judges like the talents of other finalists, even if that special, successful candidate has sold a "tremendous" amount of tickets, she will have to agree upon the decision of the "Fair" judges at the Coronation Ball.

The present way of selecting a queen is fair and unfair. To those who win, it might seem fair, and perhaps unfair to those organizations who spend long hours selling tickets. I cannot speak for any organizations. The comments that I have made are my own feelings of what I believe to be unfair. Dear Sir:
Listening to Mr. and Mrs. Miles describe the sad plight of the Navajo Indian and other tribes on the TV program, "Looking at Lompoc," Wednesday, one often wonders why for so many years nothing really constructive has been done to help their needs.
If the government, or some large company could manage to put in a few water wells, they could manage to help themselves and prosper. Maybe some of the oil companies could use a tax deductible contribution like donating a well to the United Indian Mission at Dewey, Arizona where they have to carry their water four or five miles or donate some tires. When so much of our money is sent to other countries, it is a disgrace to hear that our real Americans, the Navajo children, are freezing to death.

CONTEMPLATING HIS FUTURE or his fate or perhaps his new-found penchant for serving up fat pitches, Washington's Denny McLain looks off into space as Oakland's Mike Epstein circles the bases after smashing a home run.

McLain out for 3 weeks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For observers of Denny McLain, the signs were there for about a month—the increasing number of home run balls, the declining number of strikeouts and the tendency to go with the breaking pitch instead of the fast ball that helped him win 100 games with 1,028 strikeouts in five years.

Dr. George A. Resta, the Washington Senators' physician, confirmed it Sunday when McLain was put on the 21-day disabled list.

Resta, who salvaged the "dead" throwing arm of Roy Sievers to enable him to become the Senators' home-run king a decade ago, said McLain was suffering from "capsulitis"—a tightening of his pitching shoulder.

McLain said his arm hadn't been feeling right for a while. Only two weeks ago, however, during the throes of a nine-game losing streak, Denny had said everything was the same as old times.

McLain, of course, won 31 games for the Detroit Tigers in 1968 and 24 in 1969 before he was suspended half the 1970 season for admittedly consorting with gamblers. He came to Washington last October for pitcher Joe Coleman and the left-side of the Senators' infield—Aurelio Rodriguez and Ed Brinkman.

Packers take playoff lead

The Packers jumped off to a one-game lead in the best of three playoff series to decide the city champions of the Little League Minors.

The National League Packers exploded for seven runs in the third inning Saturday to defeat the American League Optimistics, 10-2.

The big third inning for the Packers was highlighted by six hits. Randy Glaze, the ninth batter, tripled and then came home on an error for the big blow. Also collecting hits in the inning were Art Beltran with a two-run double, Paul Huyck, with an infield hit that started the fireworks, Jerry Valencia (single), and Tim Hegwood (single).

The Packers scored three more in the fourth to make it 10-0. Singles by Gary Michels, David and Art Beltran, and Valencia helped the Pack take their commanding lead.

The Optimistics scored their pair in the fifth, behind singles by Russ Holdren and Mike Darg.

The Optimistics scored their pair in the fifth, behind singles by Russ Holdren and Mike Darg.

David Beltran got credit for the win, going 4 1-3 innings and striking out eight. Brother Art was the hot batter for the day, going 2 for 3 and collecting five RBI's. Jerry Valencia had a pair of hits as did Russ Holdren of the Optimistics.

The same two teams met again today at 5:30 at JM Park in the second game of the best-of-three playoff.

Downing beats SF; 11th win

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Gentleman Al Downing, a bachelor who likes to buy shirts, figured to be a reliever and a spot starter when the Los Angeles Dodgers acquired him.

There was one trouble with the plan. They forgot to ask the man himself.

Baseball's leading comeback player of the year candidate won his 11th game Sunday, pitching the Los Angeles Dodgers to an 11-3 romp over the San Francisco Giants.

The win allowed the Dodgers to break a six-game losing string and move to within six games of the pace-setting Giants in the National League West at the All-Star stop.

Downing, who admits he owns 50 to 60 shirts, had a combined record of 5-13 for Oakland and Milwaukee last season. He came to the Dodgers in an offseason trade that sent Andy Kosco, a veteran outfielder who didn't expect much action here, to the Brewers.

Pitching in 95-degree heat, the 30-year-old lefthander from New Jersey went the distance. He threw 152 pitches.

"It was a long game," Downing said. "I was tired but I didn't ask to come out. That's not my job."

Rookie catcher Joe Ferguson was behind the plate and reported:

"Al mixed up his pitches real well today and his changeup was absolutely tremendous. I think his changeup is the key to his success this year."

Now 11-5, Downing gave up eight hits, one of them Bobby Bonds' 20th homer of the year with two men on base in the third inning.

But the Dodgers gave their 1971 ace a 6-0 lead in the first two innings, finishing with 16 hits against five Giant hurlers. Ron Bryant didn't make it past the first inning and took his fifth loss in 12 decisions.

Manager Walter Alston was disappointed with his club's showing in the final week before the All-Star game. The Dodgers were within 3 1-2 games after a two-game sweep at San Francisco the previous weekend.

"I'd feel better," Alston said, "if we were only one game back."

Charlie Fox, the Giant manager, said he was "delighted" with a six-game lead.

"We know the Dodgers will be tough in the second half and don't sell the (Houston) Astros short. They've got a good ball club, too."

Willie Davis collected three hits including a double in five trips to raise his average to .350, second only to Joe Torre's .359 in the National League. Davis will not settle for .350.

"It's really something," the veteran centerfielder offered, "to finally learn how to play and hit in this game."

Balanced Lompoc squad captures BR sectional

By Bob Pellerin

There is balance, depth and much experience on the Lompoc Babe Ruth 14-15-year-old team that will travel to Monterey next weekend for the District Three playoffs.

The team's great strengths showed plainly this weekend as they polished off San Luis Obispo twice, 6-2 and 6-3, to take the Southern Section of District Three Championship.

It took Lompoc the minimum number of games—just four—to win the double-elimination sectional tourney. The club downed Arroyo Grande (13-0) and Nipomo (6-3) before whipping San Luis Saturday and Sunday in the championship round.

In each of the tournament games, Lompoc's balance was a key element. Hitting was always spread well throughout the lineup, showing the squad isn't dependent upon one or two men.

The team has deep strength in most positions.

Instead of relying on one or two strong pitchers, Lompoc used four different starters in its tourney games and each was impressive. Ted Grafton, Kevin Drake, Mike Bratz and Rick Freidich pitched the four wins, and Johnny Rodriguez pitched shutout relief ball when called upon.

Depth is also present in other areas. Kit Hubbard and Willard Grossi take turns doing the catching because they're equally good. And Hubbard was an all-tournament catcher in last year's Southern Section tournament as a 14-year-old.

In the outfield, Coach George Meyer always has trouble picking starters because there are five or six capable players. "My outfield changes every game, depending upon which guy is in a hot streak," says Meyer. "It's never easy to pick the starters."

It is such a team, then, that will go against the winner of the Northern Section tournament, which is still taking place in Monterey. That tourney will end tomorrow or Wednesday.

Lompoc will meet the winner in a best-of-three series at Elisterio Park in Monterey. The games are scheduled for Saturday at 1 p.m. and Sunday at 1 and 4 p.m.

The Lompoc club rode Mike Bratz' one-hit pitching performance to victory over San Luis (6-2) in Saturday's meeting of the two previously undefeated tourney teams.

San Luis then beat Arroyo Grande 13-0 in the semi-final game Saturday. But Lompoc's Rick Fridrich was too much for San Luis yesterday, hurling a five-hitter in the 6-3 championship triumph.

In Saturday's win, Bratz gave up a two-run triple to Terry Lee, but other than that he was flawless. The fireballing righthander, who has one of the strongest arms on the Lompoc squad, struck out six in the contest.

Lompoc scored twice in three different innings. Outfielder Eddie Hall ripped a single to score Ralph Ochoa and Kevin Drake in the bottom of the first. Ochoa had walked and Drake singled to get on.

In the third, Bratz singled Drake, who annihilated opposing pitching in the tourney, was intentionally walked. Bratz then scored when pitcher Mike Murphy threw away a pick-off attempt. Drake later scored from third on a sacrifice fly by Hall.

A perfect squeeze bunt by Jules Hain in the fourth scored Willard Grossi for a 5-0 lead. And Ochoa hit a run-scoring single for the final run.

In Sunday's championship contest, Fridrich, Hain and outfielder Greg Long each collected two hits in three at-bats to lead the club.

Long blasted a two-run single to spark a four-run outburst in the first inning as Lompoc put the game away early. In the same inning, Drake slugged a single for another run-batted-in, and Hall hit another sacrifice fly for the fourth run.

Fridrich struck out four and walked only one as he went the distance for the pitching win.

The only other local team in the tourney—Vandenberg—was eliminated by Arroyo Grande in a 2-1 loss Saturday. The base club out-hit Arroyo 5-3, but failed to put them together for runs.

Arroyo Grande scored in the first on two walks and a dropped fly ball by Vandenberg left-fielder Wayne Duke. They scored the winning run in the second on a run-scoring double by Bruce Sanchez.

Jim Strasler took the pitching loss, hurting himself by walking four men in the first two innings. Robert Clarkson relieved Strasler in the second and pitched strong shutout ball the rest of the way.

Vandenberg's only run came when catcher Jeff Holt doubled and Duke singled him home in the first.

LOMPOC RECORD

SPORTS

Smith, Yaz, Billy angry

Red Sox dissention centers on Billy C.

United Press International

Dissent took its toll on the California Angels. Now the Boston Red Sox are beginning to feel the pain.

The Angels, pre-season favorites to win the American League's Western Division title, were torn apart by the actions of Alex Johnson, last year's batting champion. With the AllStar break beginning today, the Angels are 16½ games behind first-place Oakland in the West.

Boston, which had closed ground on the Baltimore Orioles in the Eastern race, was rocked this weekend by charges of favoritism leveled at superstar Carl Yastrzemski by Billy Conigliaro. The Red Sox lost a three-game series to the New York Yankees during the weekend, capped by a 3-2 loss Sunday. That loss, combined with Baltimore's 7-1 triumph over Cleveland, left Boston 5½ games behind in the East.

Conigliaro's blast at Yastrzemski came after Tony Conigliaro, Billy's older brother and a member of the Angels, announced his retirement unexpectedly because of eye trouble.

Billy Yastrzemski of having his brother traded from Boston to California last season and said that Yaz would probably urge that he (Billy) be traded. Billy blamed Yastrzemski for having him reduced to a platoon player, sharing the outfield with Joe Lahoud.

"I'm sick of it all," said Yastrzemski. "Let's just play the game. He is just alibiing for his lack of ability."

Adding to the Red Sox' woes was a blast leveled by outfielder Reggie Smith, another of the Boston stars, at Billy: "I don't want to play anymore, let him go and quit like his brother did. Joe Lahoud should play in his place every day. At least Joe will be acting in the best interests of his club. We can't have a winning team with his acting this way."

Billy left for weekend military duty after making his charges Friday night and will rejoin the club on Wednesday after the All-Star break. Manager Eddie Kasko refused to say what course of action the club will take.

"I'm very worried about this situation," said Kasko. "There's too much at stake to let something like this demoralize us. We've come too far."

Horace Clarke singled home Gene Michael from second base with one out in the ninth inning Sunday to lead the Yankees past the Sox. Michael opened the inning with a single and took second on a sacrifice.

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota swept Kansas City 6-5 and 7-1, California beat Oakland 6-3 after losing the opener 3-2, Milwaukee and Chicago split 1-0 decisions and Washington edged Detroit 4-3.

Brooks Robinson had a threerun double and Dave Johnson doubled a two-run homer as Baltimore exploded for six runs in the seventh inning to beat the Indians.

With the score tied at 1-1, Steve Hargan walked the bases loaded and Merv Rettenmund singled home one run. Robinson doubled home three more and Johnson homered on the next pitch to help Pat Dobson record his 10th victory of the season and seventh in a row.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The British Open Title is something special. Owning it, even temporarily, stamps a man considerably apart from his contemporaries.

Strictly in terms of dollars and cents, the title is worth $13,200, a sum not exactly calculated to get the majority of today's touring golf pros unduly overheated. But nobody ever speaks of the British Open in terms of dollars and cents.

Call the roll of past winners and it sounds more like some Who's Who of golf. Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen and Harry Vardon were among the earlier British Open champs. Then came fellows like Tommy Armour, Gene Sarazen and Henry Cotton. They were followed by the likes of Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Bobby Locke, Peter Thomson, Gary Player, Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lema and Roberto de Vincenzo.

And now here comes the latest winner of all—colorful, cap-throwing, when-you're-hot-you're-hot Lee Trevino.

Inside a month now Trevino, or "Super Mex" as he calls himself, has carried off an almost unbelievable sweep of three national championships. Within that space of time he has won the U.S. Open, the Canadian Open and the British Open and nobody—not Bobby Jones, not Ben Hogan and not Arnold Palmer nor Jack Nicklaus—ever was able to do that before.

The feat has occasioned considerable eyebrow lifting even among Trevino's fellow pros who aren't in the habit of lifting their eyebrows too easily.

"I think it's fair to say Lee Trevino is a notch above most of us," says Art Wall, Jr.

Art Wall, Jr., is one of those fellows who thinks what he's going to say before he says it. He isn't exactly a humpty with a golf club in his hands either.

Wall was the PGA Player of the Year in 1959, a year in which he also won the Masters and was the leading money winner off the tour. He's 47 now and still plays a good game. For those who'd like to know what Wall has done lately, he finished in a first place tie with Trevino in last week's Canadian Open and then was beaten in the subsequent playoff.

"One of the most over-used words today is the word 'great,'" says Art Wall. "We have a tendency to over-use it in golf also. When the word is used in golf I feel it should be used for players like Hogan, Snead, Player, Palmer, Casper, Boros and Nicklaus. They're really great players. Trevino is in this same class."

Trevino, 31, and putting in only his fifth full year on the tour, says he'd like to make a million dollars before he's through and he already is more than halfway there. But there's also something else he wants. It's pretty much the same thing everybody else wants in golf or anything else—recognition. Trevino said as much in Southport, England, Saturday after knocking in a birdie putt on the final hole.

"I've never won across the water before," he said. "That's why I wanted this one so bad. Now maybe they'll consider me a good international player."

Lee Trevino is something more than that. He's a champion who keeps playing and there's nothing people in sports appreciate more than that.

Trevino believes in himself. At last week's presentation ceremony after winning the Canadian Open he said he felt he could win the British Open even though he'd have only two days to find out about the course. That was all it really took him.

If there is any secret to Trevino's success it's one that's readily obvious to anybody who has ever watched him play. He sets the ball up on the left side of the fairway and fades his shots into the green. He rarely has any trouble with his swing because it invariably repeats itself. Lee Trevino has a swing he trusts. He should. It's already on the way to making him that million he likes to talk about.

The Worst Is Yet to Come?

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Sympathies are extended to players such as Gene Alley and Tim Cullen, sub-200 hitters, for not being selected as All-Star Game starters.

But the time may come when such fluff sluggers dominate an All-Star squad. The precedent has been established by Boog Powell and Luis Aparicio.

It happens that Powell and Aparicio, fine performers in the past, have both been suffering glum seasons. Yet their long-time popularity has stamped them into starting spots on the American League team for the All-Star Game July 13 in Detroit.

All-Star voting, by fans on a nationwide basis, is metaphorically supposed to be aimed only at this season. Yet Powell, the Orioles' first baseman, was hitting .210 on June 30, the last day of voting. Aparicio, the Boston shortstop, was hitting .184.

The sentimental fan could do odd things in the future. With a tug here and there on the heartstring, a romantic "all-star" game based on the Powell-Aparicio criterion could be as follows (with the June 30 statistics):

NATIONAL LEAGUE:

First base—Joe Hagie (.215) of St. Louis. Hagie is close to disqualification, though, since he was hitting better than the A.L.'s first-base choice.

Second base—Dave Campbell (.215) of San Diego. But Glenn Beckert (.339) of the Cubs, who will actually start at second in Detroit on July 13, is not a total washout. He had the worst 1970 fielding average (.970) among regulars at his position. Campbell, of course, was ninth among regulars with .974.

Third base—Doug Rader (.224) of Houston. Though his average was relatively high, he had hit only two homers and had driven in 19 paltry runs.

Shortstop—Gene Alley (.180) of Pittsburgh, whose average makes Aparicio look like Honus Wagner, practically.

Outfield—Bernie Carbo (.221) of Cincinnati, Jim Wynn (.202) of Houston, John Callison (.213) of Chicago. Cesar Cedeno of Houston was a good choice until he lost his head a few weeks ago and began batting around .240.

Catcher—John Edwards of Houston, hitting .216, is eminently deserving.

AMERICAN LEAGUE:

First base—If Powell weren't so entrenched, Rich Reese (.188) of Minnesota would surely merit the nod.

Second base—Dick McAuliffe (.199) of Detroit, whose tough, tobacco-chewing style is reminiscent of the old-time players. He is hitting like them, too—the ones in nursing homes.

Third base—Tommy Harper (.221) of Milwaukee.

Shortstop—Aparicio's suitable replacement could be Tim Cullen (.181) of Washington.

Outfield—Rick Monday (.227) of Oakland, Ken Berry (.200) of California, Ken Harrelson (.199), formerly of Cleveland (who had the good graces to retire at mid-season).

Catcher—Paul Casanova (.217) of Washington.

Walking out to the mound for such clubs is quite like walking off a plank, but if any starting pitchers qualify they are Denny McLain (14-game loser as of June 30) of Washington and Steve Arlin (11 losses) of San Diego.

That's it, team. Go out there and trip over your shoelaces.

Saucek wins in Oxnard drag races

In the National Hot Rod Association sponsored drag meet held in Oxnard on the air field yesterday, Lompoc racer Bob Saucek took runnerup honors in Bracket five. Saucek ran his 1967 Ford in the meet where over 500 elapsed-time racers registered to race.

As an habitual racer at the Golden State Raceway in Santa Maria, Saucek had been in the winner's bracket several times. His second most recent win was on the July fourth weekend, when he won money in Bracket five in Santa Maria.

The races were held yesterday to discover if there was enough enthusiasm in the vicinity for the city of Oxnard to build a track. Over 20,000 people filled the temporary stands that hold 5,000 comfortably.

By 1 p.m. the track officials were asking spectators to stay away, according to Rick Williams, a member of the Golden State Raceway staff.

"It was the most out-of-site showing that this area has ever seen," says Mrs. Mike Riola, wife of Mike Riola, a Lompoc racer that raced yesterday in Oxnard.

Fiery death for son of millionaire

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI)—Experts today examined the burned-out wreckage of a power-laden Ferrari car which carried millionaire's son Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico to a fiery death in the 200 miles of Nuernberg Auto Race Sunday.

The 31-year-old Rodriguez led the pack in the first of the two runs of the inter-series competition open for machines of unlimited cylinder capacity when his fire-engine-red 12-cylinder Ferrari 512M suddenly skidded off the track in the 12th lap, struck a guard rail and a wall and burst into flames.

Track guards immediately pulled Rodriguez out of the flaming wreckage and an ambulance rushed him to Nuernberg's Municipal Hospital.

But a few hours after the accident, which shocked the 70,000 spectators watching the ill-fated race on the Noris Ring Speed Circuit outside Nuernberg under a blazing sun, Rodriguez died of a fractured skull, broken bones and burns in spite of doctors' desperate attempts to save his life.

Rodriguez's brother Ricardo, lost his life in an accident during practice runs for the 1962 Grand Prix of Mexico.

After Ricardo's death, his father persuaded Pedro to give up racing altogether.

But Pedro could not resist the glamor of the racing circuits and he began climbing behind the wheels of speedy cars again in 1963.

Pedro mostly shone in sports car events. Last year he won the Daytona 24-hours, the Brands Hatch, the Watkins Glen six hours, and the Monza 1,000 kilometers for the John Wyer Porsche 917 team.

Angels try to forget Tony C.

ANAHEIM (UPI)—The California Angels are not counting on Tony Conigliaro to change his mind.

Whether his (Conigliaro's) decision is final or not, general manager Dick Walsh said Sunday night, "I don't know. I only know that we aren't counting on him now."

On a day the Angels split a doubleheader at Oakland to remain 16 1-2 games off the pace in the American League's Western Division, Walsh spoke of the second half of the season.

"We have to pick up some ground," the general manager declared. "That should be the motto from now on."

Conigliaro, who came to the Angels in a much-hailed trade with the Boston Red Sox, left the club at Oakland Saturday. He said he was having trouble with his sight and he wasn't helping California.

"I didn't try to talk him out of it because that wouldn't have helped in this situation," Walsh revealed. "He had his mind made up already."

"He felt he wasn't helping us and was taking money under false pretenses. He was despondent and depressed."

With 2 2-3 innings of scoreless relief help from Dave La Roche, Clyde Wright registered his eighth win with a 6-3 triumph over the A's in the nightcap of a doubleheader. Oakland won the first game 3-2 on a pinch single by Tommy Davis for a run in the eighth inning.

At the time of Conigliaro's departure, the $40,000-a-year outfielder was hitting only .229 with four homers and 15 RBIs.

Manager Lefty Phillips, whose team concluded a seven-game road trip with a 5-2 record and is now eight games under .500 at 42-50.

"We'll be a much better club in the second half of the season than we were in the first part. Our pitching has been good but it's going to be excellent."

"(Mickey) Rivers gives us added speed in the outfield and (Roger) Repoz playing a lot will give us even more. I'm very happy with the outfield we've got."

Walsh traded to the Chicago White Sox for fleet Ken Berry to play between Alex Johnson and Conigliaro. It didn't work out exactly that way.

Johnson, last year's American League batting champion, was suspended last month for lack of hustle. It doesn't appear as if he will be back.

The Angels also will be without shortstop Jim Fregosi for at least three weeks. He is scheduled to undergo surgery at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., Thursday for removal of Plantar's neuroma from the bottom of his right foot.

California opens an eight-game homestand Thursday night against Baltimore with Cleveland and Detroit scheduled to follow the world champion Orioles here.

Andy Messersmith, the Angels' representative in the All-Star game, tentatively is scheduled to pitch against the Orioles.

TOM SHOPAY OFF LIST

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles Tuesday took outfielder Tom Shopay off the disabled list and made room for him on the roster by sending outfielder-first baseman

Terry Crowley to the Rochester red Wings of the International League.

PHILLIES RAISE FENCE

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Phillies received permission from the 11 other National League clubs to raise the outfield fence at Veterans Stadium from eight to 12 feet, beginning July 19. Too many ground rule doubles was given as the reason for requesting the change.

THINK ABOUT IT!

BY BOB LILLEY

If you or friend wife own a valuable ring or item of jewelry it's a good idea to schedule it on your homeowners policy. In that way if you lose a stone from the trinket the loss is covered! And speaking of valuables — It's a good idea to inventory your house-hold furnishings and personal belongings. In the event of a major loss it could be invaluable. We've got some inventory forms that make it easy. Stop in and we'll help you fill it out!

How one program works

Family visits: vital part of penal reform

A FAMILY enjoys a picnic as part of the Family Visitation Program at the California Correctional Institution at Tehachapi, Calif.

(Editor's Note: Gene Herrington has been an inmate of the California Correctional Institute at Tehachapi, Calif., for 3½ years. He is the former editor of the prison's newspaper and, like most prisoners, is a firm advocate of penal reform. His belief is that the Tehachapi institution is leading the way of such reform and as an example, he cites a program allowing inmates legitimate sex and family relationships.)

By GENE HERRINGTON

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

TEHACHAPI, Calif. — (NEA) — It started, of all places, at the state penitentiary in Mississippi. For many years, married prisoners there have had the right to receive conjugal visits pertaining to the beautification and appearance of the City of Lompoc and its environs, including the following duties:

(a) To stimulate public interest in the overall community appearance and to preserve and enhance the natural features of the Valley of Flowers.

(b) To encourage citizens, the business community and governmental agencies, in the planting of trees, flowers and shrubs and the development of greenbelts and landscaped islands, and other areas exposed to public view.

(c) To encourage cooperation and coordination among private citizens to improve and make more attractive their residential and commercial property.

(d) To advise the City Council relative to the development of a street tree master plan and the operation of a city tree nursery.

(e) As requested by the City Council, Planning Commission or other city agency or department, to prepare special appearance reports relative to areas and conditions of public interest and concern.

(f) To make an annual written report to the City Council on or before the first day of April of each year, which report shall include recommendations as to items recommended to be included in the annual city budget for beautification and appearance purposes.

The functions and duties of the commission as contained in this section shall not be construed as prohibiting the commission from initiating such studies and preparing such reports concerning conditions and problems regarding city beautification and appearance, which its membership feels warrant the attention of the commission and the consideration of the City Council.

ATTEST: Wilma Thomas,

Clerk,

City of Lompoc

CERTIFICATE OF ADOPTION

State of California

County of Santa

Barbara) ss.

City of Lompoc

I, WILMA THOMAS, the duly appointed City Clerk of the City of Lompoc, California, do hereby certify that the foregoing

Ordinance No. 884(71) was introduced at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Lompoc, California, held on the 15th day of June, 1971, and was passed and adopted at a regular meeting of said City Council, held on the 6th day of July, 1971, by the following vote, to-wit:

AYES: Councilmembers:

Charlotte Benton, George

Cotsenmoyer, Sol Lefkowitz, E. C.

Stevens, Mayor Art Scott.

NOES: Councilmembers: None.

ABSENT: Councilmembers:

None.

That said Ordinance No. 884(71)

was then and there declared adopted and has been signed by the Mayor and attested by the Clerk of said City of Lompoc.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed

the official seal of the City of Lompoc, this 6th day of July, 1971.

Wilma Thomas,

City Clerk

of Lompoc

1T, July 12, 1971

from their wives. That is, to have private sex. It was a controversial, often condemned program from the start and it did not quickly spread to other state lock-ups.

However, in 1969 the California Correctional Institution at Tehachapi (CCI) quietly began a similar experiment. And it has proved so successful that all of the state's prisons, including a women's, have been instructed to follow suit.

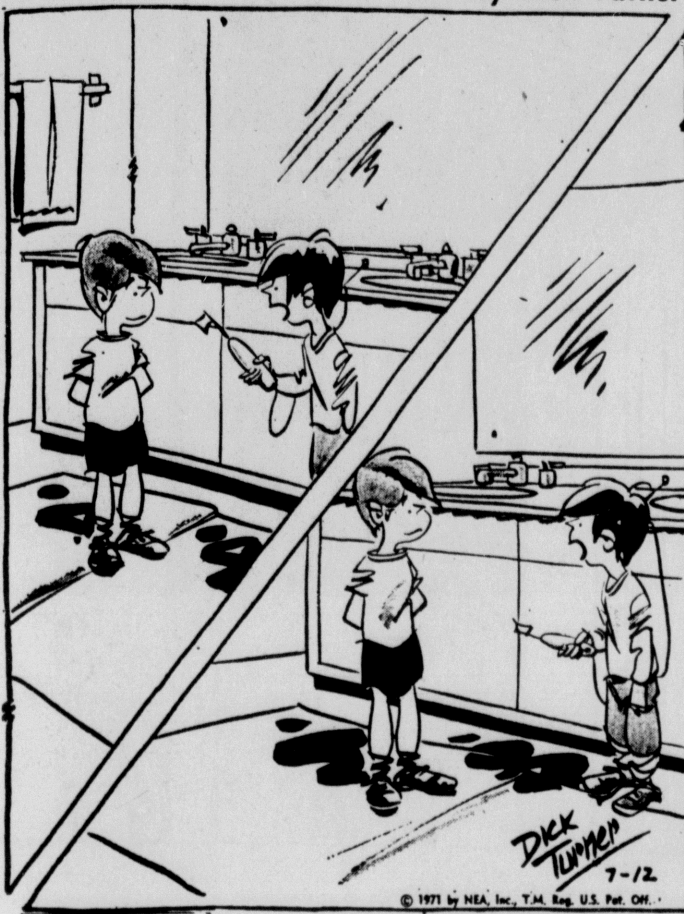

The conjugal visits are still controversial, still often condemned. But officials believe the dynamic benefits of Family Visitation Programs (FVP) are part of the answer to an old problem: How to help, not just keep, men in jail.

Let me explain the FVP program at Tehachapi.

There are two cottages used at CCI for the program. They are situated outside the boundary fence, and each contains a kitchen, bathroom, living room with fireplace and three bedrooms. They are equipped with all household furnishings.

Spirit of cooperation

At the beginning of this year, this Valley faced a most serious, growing problem of drug abuse. The Valley was no different than thousands of other communities across this nation. However, only scattered effort was being made here to combat the problem.

A series of articles in this newspaper outlining the problem of heroin or hard addiction in our community in December of last year provided the nucleus and impetus for action which during the past six months has done much to offset the problem, though far from complete success.

Last week the culmination of much effort on the part of the Lompoc Valley Drug Abuse Coordinating Council was accomplished with separate actions by the Lompoc Unified School District and the Lompoc City Council. Both entities approved a joint resolution which will allow for the application of a federal grant to assure the continuation of the programs of the Drug Abuse Coordination Council.

Primary reason for the grant application will be for the establishment of two Drop-In Centers in the city of Lompoc and Vandenberg Village, hopefully by the start of the school year. The Centers will be designed to take care of the "people problems" of the youth of our community and will be under the paid, trained and professional direction of a counselor. Drop-In Centers for youth have proved highly successful in many communities as one part of combatting drug abuse.

Meanwhile, other programs of the Drug Abuse Coordinating Council are being strengthened. Dawn House, a de-toxification clinic or "kick clinic" established last February through the cooperation of the Lompoc medical profession, Mental Health and community volunteers, regularly sees 10 to 20 hard addicted youth daily. Counseling activities at the Dawn House are being stepped up in addition to the medical treatment received.

It is the intention of the Drug Abuse Coordinating Council to re-institute their drug seminar series in October for referred drug abusers and their parents and to repeat the public lectures in the late fall. Continuation and maintenance of the "Hotline" service is another main project of the Council.

The spirit of cooperation between the Unified School District and the City Council in supporting the programs of the volunteer Drug Abuse Coordinating Council deserves the highest praise. It is only through an entire spirit of community cooperation that the problem will be lessened and, perhaps, someday defeated.

From the heart

Our Assemblyman, W. Don MacGillivray, put out a long news release last week warning the California College Republican State Meeting in Pacific Grove to expect an unethical reapportionment of the state.

The news release is filled with direct quotes from the assemblyman referring to several plans for reapportionment.

"You must help to expose this for what it is — pure politics to defraud the people of this state," the assemblyman states.

"By drawing outlandish lines, dividing communities of interest, and paternalism of our under-represented minorities, they hope to maintain their power at the expense of the will of the voter."

It isn't that we agree or disagree with the assemblyman's quotes. It is certain that any reapportionment plan put in effect will make some legislators angry and some happy. What raised our eyebrows a bit was the footnote at the end of the press release, which read:

"The Assemblyman speaks from the heart, however he will stand behind the above quotes."

Is it really necessary to tell us that if you are speaking from the heart that you stand behind the quotes? Or, if you speak from the heart, you don't stand behind your quotes?

Has us confused.

There has been a lot of talk and controversy over the peace symbol, its origin and meaning. We put a lot of it aside. We have an eight-year-old who uses the symbol all over the place — on his go-cart, hanging in his room, or wearing one around his neck — and he says it is a peace symbol. If he were using a tin can for the same purpose, we wouldn't mind as long as he believed in peace.

Mrs. Edith Snyder of Mission Hills writes to tell us of a couple who were enroute from Arizona to Lompoc and were amused at an unusual peace sign in the rear window of a car.

An extra marking had been added to the original two, with the following explanation:

"This is the footprint of an American chicken."

Our boy's friend across the street received a new bicycle for his birthday and now we have to go through another campaign around our house for a new bicycle. . . . Joe Foldhazy, Lompoc Photographer who decided to go to Puerto Rico and look things over to see if he could do any business, writes us a card: "Hot, sticky, buggy and full of clip joints. Coming home to stay." Welcome back Joe, whenever you arrive. . . . There was some sick humor on our front page last week when we reported that the board of supervisors sat down to trim the budget and ended up adding $100,000 to the document. . . . The reign of the long mane may be on the wane. The manager of the University of Chicago barber shop claims more students are having their hair "cut moderately long, but neater and more often."

It is only one school, and it is far too early to tell if the era is really ending but for thousands of depressed barbers around the country, it must sound too good to be true.

City Clerk G.W. Meals had enough money in his possession Monday to purchase one of Lompoc's best farms. It was in the form of certified checks and amounted to over $30,000. The checks were placed with him by the bidders on the sewer system contract.

Lompoc is to have a committee on municipal improvements. This was decided at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday evening.

Twenty-two pickers were working at top speed yesterday in the Schuyler cherry orchard in an effort to meet the demand for cherries coming from Lompoc, Santa Barbara and other cities, while Lester H. Schuyler, proprietor, and his son Emmett were knocking crates together and packing the boxes of luscious fruit in them for immediate shipment from the orchard.

Baling of 400 tons of barley hay was completed on the Union Sugar Company's lower valley property on Saturday by Smith Brother's outfit under command of Tony Estacio, who moved the equipment to the Santa Rosa District, where he is engaged in baling approximately 100 tons of hay on several farms.

That is the heart of the backlash which many have feared would become an important political factor as the consequence of a war in which more than 45,000 Americans were killed in combat — a war so costly in dividing the country and feeding the upward spiral of inflation. Thus far the backlash has been a small voice in the national chorus of dismay and distrust over the Indochina conflict.

It has come chiefly from organizations such as the American Security Council, heavily weighted with former generals and admirals. They agitate for larger defense budgets with a warning of the grave threat to America's security in the '70s from the Soviet Union.

Admiral Sharp is speaking on television and giving interviews attacking the newspapers for using the secret Pentagon papers. In a telephone interview with this reporter he contended that the newspapers should have submitted the documents to Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and abided by his judgment as to what could and could not be printed. The people who wrote the narrative purporting to be history, said Sharp, were disenchanted with the war and slanted their account.

But his reputation rests on the strongly worded attack on former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, published in the Reader's Digest just after his retirement. McNamara repeatedly prevented the Air Force from hitting the targets that would have brought the North Vietnamese to their knees and ended the war. Sharp had urged mining Haiphong Harbor, and bombing Haiphong docks and industrial installations in Hanoi.

"It may well be that our civilian leadership believed that to use our military tools properly to eliminate the enemy's ability to make war would have been to risk a nuclear confrontation with the Soviet Union," he wrote. "Personally, I believe the risk was minimal; in any case a nation which is not willing to take calculated risks to achieve its objectives should never go to war in the first place."

Further, I believe that once a political decision is made to commit American troops to battle, we are morally obligated to use our military power in such a way as to end the fighting as quickly as possible.

Besides the digest circulation of 14 million copies, 252,740 reprints of the Sharp articles were sent out. President Nixon's closeness to the Mild-mannered and courteous, he is nevertheless in the fore-front of those who would put the blame for the failure to achieve victory in the Vietnam war on the civilians who shackled the military.

WASHINGTON — Not one in a hundred Americans could identify Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp. Yet, as the Pentagon papers are showing, this four-star admiral held a key position during the escalation of the Vietnam war. As commander in chief, Pacific, and, therefore, in over-all control of the largest American military command in the world he fired off one telegram after another demanding an enlarged air war to wipe out all of North Vietnam's military and industrial potential.

Retired now and chairman of the advisory board of Teledyne-Ryan, manufacturers of a pilotless aircraft with extensive defense contracts, Sharp has lost none of his fire.

A waiting game

WASHINGTON (NEA) Sen. Hubert Humphrey is tantalized these days by the thought that he might become the Democratic party's 1972 presidential nominee without entering any of the 22 state primaries and without making any strong early moves.

In an interview, he made it pretty plain this is the strategy he would prefer. Contrary to some accounts, he has not decided to modify this course by plunging into the June primaries in California and New York. He's just thinking about it. Said the irrepressible 1968 nominee: "Somewhere around Christmas, I'll get together with some of my friends — and my family — and talk things over. They'll be a lot clearer then. I'll make up my mind at that time whether or not I should go. No, not go, but whether I should become interested."

That little catch (no, not go) is revealing. It underscores, first Humphrey's current distaste for a costly, sweeping 1972 effort bent toward heavy primary competition. And it indicates his unmistakable feeling that such endeavors may not be necessary to his nomination.

With supporting evidence from the polls, the senator believes he has impressive residual strength in his party. He even cites figures purporting to show that he, at 61 next year, might take a bigger bite of the huge new youth vote than top contender Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

The notion Humphrey is toying with is that Muskie and other bidders might all falter in the early 1972 primaries, and that party leaders in large force might then turn to Hubert the Old Stalwart.

They might, however, insist that he submit himself to a few key primary tests — to enlarge his credentials.

Humphrey keeps saying he doesn't know whether he wants another campaign ordeal at all. At times he actually downgrades his poll strength:

"What the polls are showing now is mostly name identification. It's not very flattering, but that's the way it is."

Yet, in alternate breaths, the Minnesota Talking Machine shows he still has the presidential bug. He sees himself as the Democratic party's pre-eminent pacifier and unifier. And unifiers almost always believe they have a leg up on nominations.

It's a good guess he thinks the Democrats' critical money situation favors him, too. Well-recorded are Humphrey's denials that he's telling Defense Panel" signing a document headed "The Shifting Balance of Military Power." This is a supplement to a report by a full-scale panel made at the request of Mr. Nixon shortly after his inauguration. Both Secretary Laird and Adm. Thomas H. Moorer are attacked for failing to face up to what the supplemental report maintains is imminent danger from Soviet superiority.

The Congress by large majorities rejected cuts in the defense budget. For the viewers-with-alarm that is no answer. They see the nation disarmed by pacifists and leftists.

fat cats to keep the stuff folded, against the day of his open candidacy. The latest:

"I'm not tying up money. I don't have that much influence with these fellows. But they tell me they want to hold off contributing until the election campaign, after we have a nominee."

Obviously, the shorts on money will be most damaging to candidates who feel they must go the expensive primary route, like Muskie and Senators Birch Bayh, Harold Hughes, Henry Jackson.

Christmas and decision-time being nearly 200 days away, Humphrey might coast awhile in relative silence. Not his style. He's out on the pacifying circuit, ebullient as ever, checking off his residuals.

Typical was his recent quick speech-visit to an Electrical Workers' Union meeting in Atlantic City. He jollied it up with the boys in his suite for an hour, characteristically kicked discipline out of the window and unraveled a long spiel on economics to his favorite kind of audience.

The labor stiffs love the fully restored Hubertian flamboyance: "Nixon's credibility gap is a gulch. It makes the Grand Canyon look like a fine line. . . . I was in private life for two years and I made it good. I like it. I even complained about my taxes."

No flame-out, clearly. Same old Hubert. His party's question: Is Same Old Hubert the one to beat Same Old Richard Nixon in 1972?
